

MTS
Annual Report
2004

Dear Shareholders and Partners of MTS,

We have pleasure in presenting you with the Company's Annual Report for 2004. The Company's main achievements during the year were the doubling of its subscriber base, its entry into new regional markets of Russia, its acquisition of a leading cellular operator in Uzbekistan, and the significant growth of its main financial indicators.

Furthermore, MTS maintained its leading position in the key markets – Russia and Ukraine. The Company's joint venture, MTS Belarus, surpassed its competitors after only two years of operations, to become the number one operator in Belarus.

Clearly defined tariff plans, advanced marketing solutions, quality customer service and a first class network allowed MTS to add a record number of subscribers in 2004. Over the course of year the Company's consolidated subscriber base increased by 17.5 million to reach 34.2 million users.

MTS expanded its operational reach in 2004 after receiving 14 new licenses in Russia, acquiring a number of regional cellular operators in Russia, and entering the Uzbek market. As a result, MTS, together with its subsidiaries, is licensed to provide its services to over 225 million people.

The operational and financial success of MTS played an important part in the growth of the Company's market value. During 2004, MTS shares grew by 77% and its market capitalization reached $13.8 billion. MTS is one of the largest companies in Russia ranked by market capitalization.

As proof of the Company's success in maintaining a high corporate governance policy and transparency in the eyes of the community and investors, MTS retained one of the highest corporate governance ratings in Russia, as issued by Standard & Poor's. Electing an independent director to MTS' Board of Directors (BoD) further strengthened the level of corporate governance. Another independent director is expected to join the Board in 2005.

The stable financial position of MTS and the growth of its net income in 2004 allowed the BoD to recommend the Annual General Meeting of Shareholders almost double the dividends amount as compared to last year, to RUR 5,75195247 per share (equivalent to $1.03 per American Depositary Receipt).

The Company's main shareholders – Sistema and T-Mobile Worldwide – continued to actively support MTS' development in 2004. The decrease in T-Mobile Worldwide's stake in the Company's shareholders' capital at the end of 2004 from 25% to 10% should not affect the company's leadership-oriented strategy. More importantly, the sale increased the Company's free float, thus increasing its liquidity and the number of shareholders.

We are optimistic about the business development prospects of MTS and are grateful for your continued support.

Company Strategy

MTS' strategy is aimed at retaining and strengthening its position as the leading cellular operator in Russia and the CIS. The Company aims to excel in every aspect of its business — in profitability, in subscriber numbers, and in geographical presence. Achieving these goals requires that management meet the following top priority targets:

Grow the Company's revenues and maintain high levels of profitability

Subscriber base growth, expansion into new markets, and the acquisition of other companies provide solid grounds for ensuring continued growth in MTS' revenues. Meanwhile, an effective control over operational costs and capital expenditures remains one of the top priorities for the Company's management.

Expand and develop our geographic presence

MTS will continue to build networks within the framework of its existing licenses in Russia's regions, as well as expand the capacity of its existing networks. The Company also plans to seek further geographical expansion opportunities in Russia and the CIS, including the acquisition of other cellular operators.

Consolidate and integrate minority subsidiaries into the MTS brand

In order to optimize the management of its business, MTS aims to consolidate 100% ownership in its subsidiaries. During 2004, the Company increased its stakes in a number of its regional cellular operators.

MTS is also actively bringing its subsidiaries under the MTS trademark, allowing it to more effectively employ the strength of its national brand.

Continue improvements to customer service

The Company's subscribers associate MTS with high quality mobile telephony. MTS sees further improvement in quality and service as their top priority and is continually investing in widening the spectrum of its non-voice services and payment methods, as well as working to perfect its system of servicing subscribers. With the maturation of the Russian cellular market, cellular operators' focus is changing from attracting new clients to keeping existing subscribers by increasing their brand loyalty. MTS is actively developing its programs to boost subscriber loyalty.

Develop and promote additional services

As the Company's GSM subscriber base develops, non-voice services play a larger role in the evolution of its business. These services include non-voice data transmission such as SMS, WAP, MMS and GPRS. The introduction of new technologies and continual expansion of services provide MTS subscribers with access to the most advanced cellular technologies, and offer access to the widest list of informational resources directly from their mobile handsets.

Introduce a new management system at the Company

The Company's significant expansion in size and geographical reach has necessitated a transition to a new, three-tiered system for managing its regional business units. With the aim of improving management's effectiveness company-wide, MTS has divided its Russian operations into enlarged regions that consolidate centers of responsibility for operational measures of the Company's activities. Transfer to a new organizational structure is a priority for the Company.

Increase the employees' level of professionalism and develop a motivation system

Preserving and strengthening MTS' leadership position would be impossible without the high professional qualifications of the Company's staff. The management of MTS puts a high priority on attracting first-rate specialists and professionals, providing for their further training, as well as creating the right conditions for their career development and self-realization. One of management's key tasks is to continue to improve the ways in which MTS links evaluation of individual employees and business units with the objective indicators of their performance.

Position in the Cellular Communications Market

MTS is the largest cellular communications operator both in Russia and the CIS. Over the last few years, the Company has grown from a regional market leader in Moscow to the largest cellular provider in Europe.

MTS is successfully pursuing its strategy of providing communications services throughout Russia, and developing its business in the CIS. MTS' networks and those of its subsidiaries operate in all of Russia's federal regions, Ukraine, Uzbekistan and Belarus.

In 2004, the number of cellular users in Russia more than doubled, from 36 million to 74 million. By the end of 2004, every second Russian citizen was a continuous mobile phone subscriber. Nearly 99% of Russian mobile subscribers use GSM, the standard chosen by MTS in 1994.

As at December 31, 2004, MTS had a consolidated subscriber base of 34.2 million active users. The Company's subscriber base rose by approximately 17.5 million in 2004; of which, 16.8 million in Russia, Uzbekistan and Ukraine. A further 210,000 new subscribers came with the acquisition of Uzbekistan's Uzdunrobita, and 474,000 from acquisitions of regional operators in Russia. MTS' unconsolidated Mobilnye TeleSistemy, a joint venture in Belarus, in which MTS holds a 49% stake, served 1.2 million subscribers.

As at March 31, 2005, MTS' subscriber base numbered 38.7 million, of which 30.3 million in Russia, 8.1 million in Ukraine and 350,000 in Uzbekistan. In addition, Mobilnye TeleSistemy served 1.4 million unconsolidated subscribers in Belarus.

In 2004, MTS maintained its leading position of 36% market share in Russia and 51% in Ukraine. The acquisition of Uzdunrobita, the largest cellular operator in Uzbekistan, in August 2004 propelled MTS to the number one spot in that country.

At the end of 2004, MTS and its subsidiaries (including MobilnyeTeleSistemy) held licenses to provide GSM cellular services over an area with a population of 225.8 million.

The relatively low mobile saturation in MTS' markets mean that the Company still has significant growth potential. MTS aims to maintain and expand its leading position in Russia, Ukraine, Uzbekistan and Belarus. The Company will continue to invest in developing its infrastructure and increasing customer satisfaction.

Development of MTS in 2004

In 2004, Mobile TeleSystems continued to expand its business in the regions, both through building out and launching networks, and through the acquisition of local network operators.

In December 2004, the license coverage of MTS and its subsidiaries included 87 out of Russia's 89 regions (excluding only Penza and the Republic of Chechnya), and the entire territories of Ukraine, Uzbekistan and Belarus.

At the end of 2004, MTS operated in 77 regions in Russia, up from 60 at the end of 2003.

During 2004, the Company completed the following acquisitions:

- In March 2004 MTS acquired an additional 11% of Siberian Cellular Systems-900 (SCS-900) for $8.5 million. As a result of this transaction, MTS owned 99.5% of the company. SCS-900 offers GSM-900 mobile services under the MTS trademark in the Siberian Federal District, including the Novosibirsk Region (population 2.7 million) and the Altai Republic (population 202,000). At the time of acquisition, the company had 512,800 subscribers. The remaining 0.5% was acquired in October 2004. As of 31 December 2004, OJSC MTS was the sole owner of the company.
- At the beginning of April 2004 MTS acquired an additional 7.5% of Mobilnye Sistemy Svyazi OJSC ("MSS") for $2.2 million, increasing its ownership in the company from 83.5% to 91.03%. MSS provides its GSM 900/1800 services under the MTS brand in the Omsk region (population 2.1 million), located in the Siberian part of Russia. As of 31 March 2004, the company's subscriber base had approximately 240,750 users.
- In April 2004 MTS acquired an additional 40% stake in Far East Cellular Systems-900 CJSC ("FECS-900") for $8.3 million. As a result of this transaction, MTS' effective ownership in FECS-900 increased to 100%. FECS-900 provides GSM 900/1800 services under the MTS brand in the Khabarovsk region (population 1.4 million), located in the Siberian part of Russia. At the time of the transaction, the company's subscriber base had approximately 151,000 users.
- At the end of June 2004 MTS acquired an additional 50% stake in Primtelefon, a mobile phone operator in the Far Eastern and Siberian regions of Russia. As a result of this transaction, MTS' ownership in the company increased to 100%. MTS acquired a 50% stake in Primtelefon from the Far East Telecommunications Company OJSC (Dalsvyaz) for $31 million. Primtelefon has been providing mobile phone services under MTS' brand since February 2004. The company holds a GSM 900/1800 license covering the Far Eastern Federal Region and a number of regions in Siberia (population 11.4 million). At the time of the transaction, Primtelefon's subscriber base had approximately 190,000 users in the Primorsk, Sakhalinsk and Irkutsk regions.
- In mid-July 2004 MTS signed sale and purchase agreements providing for the acquisition of a 74% stake in Uzdunrobita, a leading cellular operator in Uzbekistan, for $121.0 million, and signed a three-year put and call agreement to acquire the remaining 26% stake subject to a minimum price of $37.7 million with all the existing shareholders of the Uzbek company. Uzdunrobta holds GSM licenses for the entire territory of the country with a population of 25.2 million. Uzdunrobta also holds AMPS/DAMPS licenses. Both the company's GSM and AMPS/DAMPS licenses are valid until 2016. The company provided services to approximately 210,350 subscribers (GSM: 177,490; AMPS/DAMPS: 32,860) at the time of the transaction.

- At the beginning of August 2004 MTS acquired an additional 49% of Digital Network of Udmurtia-900 ("DNU-900"), increasing its ownership in the company to 100%. In line with its strategy of consolidating the Company's ownership in its subsidiaries, MTS acquired the remaining 49% stake in DNU-900 for $6.4 million from Volga Telecom. The company provides GSM services under the MTS brand in the Republic of Udmurtia (population 1.6 million), located in the Volga part of Russia. The company's subscriber base was 219,760 as of July 31, 2004.
- In August 2004 MTS acquired additional 50% stakes in Astrakhan Mobile and Volgograd Mobile. As a result of these transactions, MTS' ownership in the companies increased to 100%. MTS acquired the remaining 50% stakes in Astrakhan Mobile and Volgograd Mobile from Southern Telecommunications Company ("UTK") for $1.1 million and $2.9 million respectively. Astrakhan Mobile holds a GSM license covering the Astrakhan region (population 1.0 million), and Volgograd Mobile holds a GSM license covering the Volgograd region (population 2.7 million). Both regions are part of the Southern Federal District. As of July 31, 2004, the two companies provided their AMPS/DAMPS services to around 10,000 subscribers.
- In October 2004 MTS acquired the remaining 47.285% stake in TAIF-TELKOM, a cellular operator in the Republic of Tatarstan. In line with its strategy of consolidating the Company's ownership in its subsidiaries, MTS exercised its call option in respect of a 47.285% stake in TAIF-TELKOM. MTS acquired the stake for $63.0 million from a private company, Telecom-Management. TAIF-TELKOM provides GSM 900/1800 services under the MTS brand in the Republic of Tatarstan (population 3.8 million), located in the Volga region of Russia. The company's subscriber base had approximately 595,820 users at the time of the transaction.
- In November 2004 MTS won a government privatization tender for GSM cellular operator, Gorizont RT with a bid of $52.2 million. The Property Ministry of the Republic of Sakha (Yakutia) held an open auction for the government's 76% stake in the local mobile phone operator Gorizont RT. The company is the sole mobile services provider in the Republic of Sakha (Yakutia), a region in the Russian Far East with a population of 949,300. The company provided services to 100,000 subscribers as of the end of September 2004.
- In November 2004 MTS acquired a majority stake in Sibintertelecom, a GSM cellular operator in the Chita Oblast and Aginsk-Buryatsk Autonomous District in the Far Eastern part of Russia. MTS acquired a 100% ownership in US-based MCT Sibi Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of MCT Corp., which owns 93.53% of Sibintertelecom, for $37.3 million. Sibintertelecom is the sole GSM mobile phone operator in two regions of Russia with a total population of 1.23 million (1.16 million in the Chita Oblast and 72,000 in the Aginsk-Buryatsk Autonomous District). The company provided its services to over 100,000 subscribers at the time of acquisition.

- In December 2004 MTS acquired a majority stake in Telesot-Alania, a GSM cellular operator in the Republic of North Ossetia in the Southern part of Russia. MTS acquired a 52.5% ownership in Telesot-Alania from Southern Telecommunications Company OJSC (UTK) for $6.2 million. Telesot-Alania is a GSM 900/1800 operator in the Republic of North Ossetia (population 710,000), providing its services to approximately 54,000 subscribers at the time of acquisition.
- In 2004 MTS also acquired a 35% stake in MTS-Nizhniy Novgorod and a 49% stake in Novitel, thus increasing its share in the companies to 100%. The two companies are commercial representatives of MTS and are not cellular operators.

In 2004 MTS spent $356 million on acquiring new cellular operators in Russia and the CIS and consolidating its subsidiaries. Of this amount, $121 million was spent on acquiring shares in Uzbekistan's Uzdunrobita.

During 2004 MTS transferred a number of its subsidiaries under the MTS brand. These included Primtelefon, Uraltel, Sibchallenge and MSS.

Main Risk Factors Connected with the Business Activities of MTS

Intensified competition and changes in the subscriber base mix towards more mass market and regional subscribers have led to a decrease in average revenue per user (ARPU). Although MTS' subscriber base and revenues are growing, the Company's ARPU is falling. MTS expects a further decrease in ARPU as a result of tariff reductions and growth in the share of mass market subscribers as a proportion of MTS' total subscriber base.

If MTS is unable to modernize its network effectively, it will be unable to expand its subscriber base, which could also lead to a loss in market share and revenues. The Company plans to expand its network infrastructure in the following areas:

- Extend the reach of its network and transmission capacity of its existing networks, and
- Begin to offer cellular services in regions where licenses are held, but where the Company is not yet operational.

The Company's rapid growth and expansion could lead to difficulties in attracting high quality management. MTS recently added two new Vice Presidents to the Company's management structure as a result of its rapid development. The Company's further successful development will depend to a large extent on its ability to acquire first-rate management and technical personnel.

MTS could lose market share and revenue if its traditional bandwidths are given to other providers, or if the Company should have difficulties in renewing its existing licenses.

The Company could lose licenses should it fail to meet the licensing requirements, such as failure to meet required licensing payments. MTS' licenses have a number of different requirements, including meeting technical standards, investing in network infrastructure, offering employment opportunities for Russian technical specialists, etc. Moreover, each license has deadlines regarding the service start date, number of subscribers and area of network coverage. If the Company should fail to meet any of these conditions, a given license could be annulled or suspended. (This has never happened previously to MTS.)

Should MTS fail to maintain the good reputation of its trademark, it could face difficulties in attracting new subscribers, and could lose existing subscribers, leading to a fall in market share and a drop in revenues.

MTS could fail to secure the 3G (UMTS) licenses it plans to acquire, which could affect the Company's competitiveness, and limit its ability to offer new services, leading to a fall in market share and a drop in revenues.

Interested Party Transactions Completed in 2004

Occasionally, in the course of its normal business activities, there arises the necessity to conclude different agreements between MTS and its subsidiaries within the MTS Group, such as purchase and sale agreements, service agreements, guarantees, etc.

Under such contracts, MTS carries out the construction of GSM cellular communications networks within the licensing territories of its subsidiaries (general contracts), supply and modernization of equipment and software programming support (supply and service agreements), financing of its subsidiaries (loan and guarantee agreements), advancement on regional markets of the MTS trademark (licensing agreements) and similar agreements.

In 2004 MTS approved and concluded a large number of interested party transactions (see Appendix 1).
